

Occupational Therapist

YEG Psychology is a growing practice located on the south side of Edmonton, Alberta. Our practice recently expanded into a new beautiful space located in the desirable Keswick area and a key component to our growing business is the addition of an Occupational Therapist. As an Occupational Therapist at YEG Psychology, you will provide evidence-based treatment to adult clients primarily in the area of mental health, including the treatment of depression, anxiety, phobias, and traumatic stress. In most cases, your treatment will be funded by third party referrals such as insurance companies and will be collaborative with the treating psychologist. This position is ideal for an Occupational Therapist who would like to work casual hours in addition to their full-time position at another agency.

What we offer:

- Competitive compensation system
- Client referrals
- Opportunities for peer consultation with provisional and registered psychologists
- Practice management software allowing the booking of appointments, reminders, remote note-taking, and billing with ease
- Administrative support for booking/billing clients and file management
- Privacy-compliant platform to meet with clients virtually
- Extensive knowledge working with insurance companies and return to work services

Qualifications:

- Master's degree in Occupational Therapy
- Active registration with the Alberta College of Occupational Therapists
- Maintenance of professional liability insurance
- Able to work independently but also collaboratively within a team
- Experience with crisis management and/or suicide intervention training
- Formal training in evidence-based treatments including Prolonged Exposure Therapy
- Excellent verbal and written skills

Interested candidates are encouraged to review our website at www.yeg-psychology.com and submit applications through email to info@yeg-psychology.com. In your application, please include a detailed letter expressing interest and a current CV.